

Hartline Dacus Barger Dreyer LLP Attorney Marshall Rosenberg Appointed to Foundation Performance Association Board

Marshall Rosenberg, attorney at Hartline Dacus Barger Dreyer LLP, elected to Foundation Performance Association's 2012 Board of Directors.

Houston, Texas, January 19, 2012 – Hartline Dacus Barger Dreyer LLP is pleased to announce Marshall Rosenberg's election to the Foundation Performance Association's 2012 Board of Directors.

The Foundation Performance Association (FPA) is a non-profit professional organization dedicated to advancing the knowledge, performance, and standards of engineering, construction, and repairs related to foundations, soil and structures. FPA's structural, geotechnical, and repair committees research and draft guides and recommended practices, which it publishes online through its website (<http://www.foundationperformance.org>). It also regularly holds educational technical meetings that are open to the public.

"I'm honored that the FPA members voted to include me on their Board of Directors, and humbled by their confidence in my ability to add value to the association," says Mr. Rosenberg.

Mr. Rosenberg is a "Certified Graduate Builder," a designation requiring the successful completion of extensive testing by the National Association of Home Builders, and is the only known full-time practicing attorney in the United States to obtain such recognition. His practice areas include construction defect disputes, commercial real estate litigation, and professional liability actions involving architects, engineers, surveyors, and real estate professionals. He further maintains an active practice providing consulting services and contract review for a variety of design professionals, contractors, builders, and developers.
